

Coverage Achieved: Consumer national editorial

FemaleFirst

FEMALE FIRST

Celebrity Gossip & Lifestyle Magazine

Loading

Love & Sex Community Celebrities Lifestyle Entertainment Fashion & Beauty Shopping

Flake allure

Tweet

More Food

- ★ Gordon Ramsay's Rice Salad
- ★ Duo Lambs Lettuce & Rocket with Asparagus and Pancetta
- ★ Gordon Ramsay's Paprika Pork Chops with a Spicy Red Pepper Marinade
- ★ Gordon Ramsay's Masala Biryani
- ★ Smoked salmon and asparagus quiche
- ★ Frittata with Bacon and Peas
- ★ Reduce the sugar and salt in your fridge by changing a staple
- ★ Smoked haddock pie

New food treats that you should

08 July 2011

0 Comments | Comment on this Article

There's nothing like a treat to perk up a dwindling day - so what will you choose? There have been plenty of new products to choose from that our bound to keep you happy during the summer months. Sometimes a piece of fruit, no matter how healthy, will just not make the cut.

Flake

This is limited edition, so you have to get your hands on them before they're gone. Only available in limited quantities, these come on the shelves, before you have to say goodbye.

The Flake Allure is Cadbury's latest decadent treat, with folded layers of Flake with a rich soft chocolate craving that you may have.

Not only offering a delicious new chocolate, Fake Allure will be giving away gifts during its limited edition. From Stella McCartney handbags, to luxury stays at Malmaison. To be in with a chance, visit facebook.com/FlakeAllure

That lovable Godfather Panda has done it again, this time with Fox's Ambers. These are sure to be a huge hit with biscuit lovers everywhere, they bring something new and exciting to the table.

They come in three flavours, milk chocolate, praline and caramel so you obviously have to try them. A secret recipe of crunchy golden honeycomb dipped in chocolate, the perfect accessory for your afternoon of tea.

Popcorn

Okay this might actually be healthy, but there's a problem in that, is there?

Peter Popple's Popcorn is a whole-grain, air-popped product and is only 80 calories a bag - perfect for a snack any time of the day and great to pop into your hands at the cinema and much more friendly than the usual buttered popcorn. They come in four delicious flavours, cheddar, you have plenty of choice and with so little fat. You can buy them online or in your local supermarket. Be the first to comment

